

Curriculum Vitae
Pere Pau Ripollès Alegre

RIPOLLÈS ALEGRE, Pere Pau. Professor of Archaeology, in the Departament of Prehistory and Archaeology (Universitat de València, Spain). His research has been mainly focused on Ancient Numismatics of the Iberian Peninsula.

He has been visitor researcher in the most important numismatic institutions. He has had scholarships to carry out research at the Escuela Española de Historia y Arqueología of Rome; the Cabinet des Médailles, París; the Oxford University (Visiting Professor); Department of Coins and Medals at the British Museum, London (Voluntary Assistant Keeper); the American Numismatic Society, New York (Visiting Scholar ANS Summer Seminar 2013), the Royal Coin Cabinet, Stockholm and the University of Bologna (Visiting Professor).

Among the most relevant studies published (alone or with colleagues) the following stand out: La circulación monetaria en la Tarraconense Mediterránea (Valencia 1983); Le monete ispaniche nelle collezioni italiane (Rome 1986); Monedas Hispánicas (Madrid 2000); The Roman Provincial Coinage (London, Paris 1992), which constitutes the most updated catalogue and study on the Roman Imperial civic coin production; La ceca de Arse-Saguntum (Sagunto 2002), Monedas Hispánicas de la Bibliothèque Nationale de France (Madrid 2005); Las monedas provinciales romanas de Hispania (Madrid, 2010).

His PhD has received the Javier Conde Garriga award given by the A.N.E. He has also received the medals: “Jeton de Vermeil”, given by the Société Française de Numismatique, 1998, and “Allier de Hauteroche”, given by l’Académie des Inscriptions et Belles Lettres, Institut de France, 1999. He is currently Corresponding Member of the Real Academia de la Historia (Madrid).